

ENTRY LIST GROWS FOR AUTO MEET

Mardi Gras Event at New Orleans Will Be Greatest Ever Held in South.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
New Orleans, La., February 4.—Entries for the Mardi Gras Speed Carnival, which will be held in conjunction with an automobile show February 25, 26 and 27, continue to pour in. Up to date fifteen of the leading drivers of America have entered the meet, while the absolute assurance of ten more entries has been received. At the show twenty-five motor cars and fifteen accessory exhibits will be shown in the grandstand building of the track.

Since the announcement of the entries of Caleb Bragg, Lewis Strang, Will Jones and Louis Larssonneur, Walter Donnelly, Harry Endicott and partner, S. L. Speer and James Benzle, a number of entries have been received, of which Homer George, manager of the New Orleans Automobile Club, to-day adds others named below.

Masonville, one of the nerviest and most daring drivers in America, has been entered, and his work in the Wheatley Hills and in the Indiana Trophy of two years stands as a monument to his ability. His car gets in the 231-300 class, in which a number of other cars will start.

John Miller, racing team manager, has entered two cars in the 231-300 class, which Miller and Ireland will drive.

ROANOKE LEADER IS OPTIMISTIC

(Continued From First Page.)

league organization. I have never seen a ball player who showed more aptitude for the third sack than Joe last season. He was moved in and played the cushion while Spratt was injured, and he would have remained there the remainder of the season but for the fact that Spratt was unable to play the infield. Joe has as great a throwing arm as any ball player in the game, and is one of the best hitters that has ever been in the Virginia League.

At second base Doyle will not be seen this year, for he believes he has outlived his usefulness in the Virginia League, having played here for the past five seasons, and desires a change. The little fellow, however, will take with him the best wishes of all the fans, who have witnessed his steady playing while a player of the Virginia League.

Davidson Boy at Second.
Wilkinson, a Davidson College boy, is the most promising candidate signed to date for this position. This youngster is a ten-second man, and while at Davidson was considered one of the griftiest and fastest players that ever attended that institution. The fact that he is a hustler and is fast will be much in his favor.

At short stop, Davis, a Washington boy, who was highly recommended to the management of the Roanoke Club by Ed. Grillo, sporting editor of the Washington Star, is the only man signed so far, though both Davis and Wilkinson will have plenty of competition. Of last year's pitching staff, Fritchard and Short will be back, and Jenkins, who was here the first part of last season, will also be given a trial.

Of the newcomers, the men that have been signed so far are Gardin, a southpaw, drafted from the Spartanburg club of the Carolina Association, in which league he led the pitchers; Strawn, of Fort Thomas, Ky.; Thompson, from Giles county, Virginia; Draper and Gydosh, two left-handers from West Virginia, will also be given a trial.

All of these men have good records, and the Tigers should be far stronger in the box this year than they were last season. The management is now anxiously for a strong catcher, as they realize that this is one of the most important positions to be filled. The catchers signed to date are Smith, a youngster from Pulaski, and Farrell, from Cincinnati.

Shaukeness in Right Garden.
In the outfield I expect to hold down the right garden, and so far the only man signed up for centre and left are Devine, a youngster who has had some experience in the Connecticut League last season, and Clever, who played on Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, team last year. I believe, however, that Gardin will eventually be given an outfield position, as I have been tipped off that he is a fine natural left-hand hitter.

The management is in communication with several young players, and when the team reports for practice on March 2 it will probably number thirty members. This squad will be weeded out as quickly as I can satisfy myself as to the ability of the men. In picking the team, I will be guided as much by a player's intelligence and habits as by his ability to hit and field. In fact, I would far rather have a team that will hit 200 and that always hustles to win and keep themselves in good condition, than a team of stars that by the people of any city. The club cannot be depended upon.

Salary Limit Seems Settled.
The salary limit does not worry me in the least, as I feel that it is the best thing for baseball that has ever been done in the Virginia League. Until the directors got together last fall and decided upon a reduction in the limit, and elected a man as president who will give his time to the good of the league and for the enforcement of its laws, I was very pessimistic as to the outlook for baseball in Virginia.

There is no question in my mind that had we continued to run another year under the same conditions as have existed in the past, it would have meant the end of baseball for some time to come in the cities of Danville, Lynchburg, Petersburg and Roanoke, and this would have meant the failure of professional baseball in Virginia.

There has been considerable talk that the salary limit is too low and that it should be raised to $1,000. For my part, I admit that it would be easier for me to sign a team for that amount than for $1,200, but I don't believe that I could get any better team by raising the limit.

Young Men Needed.
The teams that have been successful in the Virginia League in the two years that I have been a member of the organization were the ones that relied upon young players, and not upon men who have spent five or six years in minor league ball.

The Roanoke club, since I have been connected with it, has always lived within the salary limit. Furthermore, the players that gave the best service and yet received the least money were youngsters who either were getting their first taste of professional baseball or had just had about a year's experience in the game. A ball player who has spent five or six years in the minors knows that he is as high in the profession as he will ever get; there much enthusiasm in his work. The youngster, working on a small salary, knows that it is up to him to show his best if he wishes to advance and get the money.

New Faces, New Interest.
The fact that there will be so many young ball players getting their first chance in professional baseball this season in the Virginia League means that the fans will see some stars develop. There will be new faces on every club, and this will add to the general interest and also to the attendance.

Last season the Roanoke club was composed almost entirely of the same men who formed the club the year before, and I believe that the people of Roanoke held their players in as high esteem as any players were ever held in the league.

WHITMAN AND "MIDGET"

BERGMAN
WILSON

NOT THE ONE YOU'RE THINKING OF!

FORE!

You can tell Whitman, because he is fat, but "Midget," better known as Stanley Hoen, turned his head when the camera man snapped. Blair is seen smoking. All three are "some bowlers."

cannot be depended upon.

Salary Limit Seems Settled.

The salary limit does not worry me in the least, as I feel that it is the best thing for baseball that has ever been done in the Virginia League. Until the directors got together last fall and decided upon a reduction in the limit, and elected a man as president who will give his time to the good of the league and for the enforcement of its laws, I was very pessimistic as to the outlook for baseball in Virginia.

There is no question in my mind that had we continued to run another year under the same conditions as have existed in the past, it would have meant the end of baseball for some time to come in the cities of Danville, Lynchburg, Petersburg and Roanoke, and this would have meant the failure of professional baseball in Virginia.

There has been considerable talk that the salary limit is too low and that it should be raised to $1,000. For my part, I admit that it would be easier for me to sign a team for that amount than for $1,200, but I don't believe that I could get any better team by raising the limit.

Young Men Needed.
The teams that have been successful in the Virginia League in the two years that I have been a member of the organization were the ones that relied upon young players, and not upon men who have spent five or six years in minor league ball.

The Roanoke club, since I have been connected with it, has always lived within the salary limit. Furthermore, the players that gave the best service and yet received the least money were youngsters who either were getting their first taste of professional baseball or had just had about a year's experience in the game. A ball player who has spent five or six years in the minors knows that he is as high in the profession as he will ever get; there much enthusiasm in his work. The youngster, working on a small salary, knows that it is up to him to show his best if he wishes to advance and get the money.

New Faces, New Interest.
The fact that there will be so many young ball players getting their first chance in professional baseball this season in the Virginia League means that the fans will see some stars develop. There will be new faces on every club, and this will add to the general interest and also to the attendance.

Last season the Roanoke club was composed almost entirely of the same men who formed the club the year before, and I believe that the people of Roanoke held their players in as high esteem as any players were ever held in the league.

The Roanoke club, since I have been connected with it, has always lived within the salary limit. Furthermore, the players that gave the best service and yet received the least money were youngsters who either were getting their first taste of professional baseball or had just had about a year's experience in the game. A ball player who has spent five or six years in the minors knows that he is as high in the profession as he will ever get; there much enthusiasm in his work. The youngster, working on a small salary, knows that it is up to him to show his best if he wishes to advance and get the money.

New Faces, New Interest.
The fact that there will be so many young ball players getting their first chance in professional baseball this season in the Virginia League means that the fans will see some stars develop. There will be new faces on every club, and this will add to the general interest and also to the attendance.

Last season the Roanoke club was composed almost entirely of the same men who formed the club the year before, and I believe that the people of Roanoke held their players in as high esteem as any players were ever held in the league.

The Roanoke club, since I have been connected with it, has always lived within the salary limit. Furthermore, the players that gave the best service and yet received the least money were youngsters who either were getting their first taste of professional baseball or had just had about a year's experience in the game. A ball player who has spent five or six years in the minors knows that he is as high in the profession as he will ever get; there much enthusiasm in his work. The youngster, working on a small salary, knows that it is up to him to show his best if he wishes to advance and get the money.

New Faces, New Interest.
The fact that there will be so many young ball players getting their first chance in professional baseball this season in the Virginia League means that the fans will see some stars develop. There will be new faces on every club, and this will add to the general interest and also to the attendance.

Last season the Roanoke club was composed almost entirely of the same men who formed the club the year before, and I believe that the people of Roanoke held their players in as high esteem as any players were ever held in the league.

was in the race from the start to the finish, yet the attendance fell off, and also the interest. The reason was plain. The people knew every player, just how good he was, and they simply grew tired of seeing the same men, day after day. I firmly believe the attendance at Roanoke this year, if we are fortunate to have a good team, will be the best in the history of this city.

Great Baseball in 1911.

Several people are complaining that the league has been used to such high class ball that the fall this year will be so great that the people will become disgusted with the game and will not attend.

Those people don't know what they are talking about, because in the first place, with the exception of two clubs in the league, the baseball I have seen here has been about as poor an exhibition of the national game as has ever been seen anywhere. Can any one conceive of clubs playing a more headless game than that put up by several of the clubs in this league last season.

I will guarantee that when the season of 1911 closes that the fans in this circuit will say that they are perfectly satisfied with the class of baseball presented, and will admit that it compares favorably with any other class C or B organization in the country, and every team's success or failure lies and is blamed to the manager.

Many Are the "Hopes," But Few Are "Champs"
(Continued From First Page.)
of campaign against Jack Johnson. The cablegrams said:

Cablegram Suspicious.
"Arnst stands a shade over six feet, and weighs, when in condition, 200 pounds."

Right there suspicion was cast upon the authenticity of the deep sea dispatch, considering it came out of British dominion. It should have said: "And weighs in condition 15 stone 4."

Whether or not the cable is genuine, and whether or not Big Dick Arnst has pugilistic aspirations, one thing is certain—that he is a versatile fellow for sure. He was the champion bicyclist of Australia when he got the idea that there would be more money in caromanship. In one short year he mastered the invariance of rowing and began to issue challenges. He has had but few matches, and he is now so far ahead of other watermen that a worthy opponent cannot be found for him. If he succeeds with boxing as well as he did with bicycling and rowing, he will be a marvel of adaptability and the greatest all-around specialist the world of sports has known. There is no telling his limitations.

A test was arranged, Jack Brady, a San Francisco heavyweight boxer being selected to go against Whistler. Brady wasn't a sturdy man by any means, although he was a capable boxer, and alongside Whistler he cut anything but an imposing figure.

When time was called, Whistler started a rush. He didn't finish it, for Brady nailed him with a right on the chin and Whistler fell like a soldier shot through the heart. When they revived him he admitted that wrestling and boxing were two different lines of endeavor.

Wrestlers Are Not Boxers.
Then there is our present day wrestling champion, Frank Gotch. Some of the people have been wondering lately why Gotch, with all his weight and muscle and power to bend a man like a reed, doesn't improve his knowledge of boxing and go after Jack Johnson.

Frank knows why. He has already tried his hand as a pugilist, and found himself wanting. In the early days of Jones and Dawson Frank made frequent appearances in the ring up in the "Houseless Snow" region. He was a mark for all the third-rate fighters that came along.

That is why he smiles when asked why he doesn't register as a "white man's hope." He has his own game, and he is going to stick to it.

There was another famous athlete, weight lifter and wrestler, who was just crazy to shine as a boxer. This was Professor Miller, of Melbourne. He was a persistent fellow, and he continued to get into championship company in short bouts, for, on account of his great bulk and strength, he took punches that would have stopped a less massive man; but he did not gain a niche in the pugilistic temple of fame. He is remembered simply as "Professor Miller, the wrestler."

There are still living in San Francisco sporting men who remember Clarence Whistler, the wrestler. He was a superb specimen of physical development and the greatest wrestler living a little over a quarter of a century ago.

Clarence was in San Francisco in the early eighties, and became involved in a dispute as to the relative merits of wrestling and boxing as a means of self-defense. Clarence, in the pride of his immense strength and suppleness, held that being able to wrestle meant being able to box—that a wrestler could thrust aside swings and wallops and cause a ringman to bellow for mercy.

A test was arranged, Jack Brady, a San Francisco heavyweight boxer being selected to go against Whistler. Brady wasn't a sturdy man by any means, although he was a capable boxer, and alongside Whistler he cut anything but an imposing figure.

When time was called, Whistler started a rush. He didn't finish it, for Brady nailed him with a right on the chin and Whistler fell like a soldier shot through the heart. When they revived him he admitted that wrestling and boxing were two different lines of endeavor.

Wrestlers Are Not Boxers.
Then there is our present day wrestling champion, Frank Gotch. Some of the people have been wondering lately why Gotch, with all his weight and muscle and power to bend a man like a reed, doesn't improve his knowledge of boxing and go after Jack Johnson.

Frank knows why. He has already tried his hand as a pugilist, and found himself wanting. In the early days of Jones and Dawson Frank made frequent appearances in the ring up in the "Houseless Snow" region. He was a mark for all the third-rate fighters that came along.

That is why he smiles when asked why he doesn't register as a "white man's hope." He has his own game, and he is going to stick to it.

There was another famous athlete, weight lifter and wrestler, who was just crazy to shine as a boxer. This was Professor Miller, of Melbourne. He was a persistent fellow, and he continued to get into championship company in short bouts, for, on account of his great bulk and strength, he took punches that would have stopped a less massive man; but he did not gain a niche in the pugilistic temple of fame. He is remembered simply as "Professor Miller, the wrestler."

There are still living in San Francisco sporting men who remember Clarence Whistler, the wrestler. He was a superb specimen of physical development and the greatest wrestler living a little over a quarter of a century ago.

Clarence was in San Francisco in the early eighties, and became involved in a dispute as to the relative merits of wrestling and boxing as a means of self-defense. Clarence, in the pride of his immense strength and suppleness, held that being able to wrestle meant being able to box—that a wrestler could thrust aside swings and wallops and cause a ringman to bellow for mercy.

possible starters augur well for a great contest. Sir John Johnson, the pride of the Beverwyck stable, which is receiving a special "prep" for the stake, has of late been accorded top weight in all handicaps. Donald McDonald, probably one of the most improved players in training, and winner of two stakes at this meeting, is also looked upon as a sure starter. Owner Clifton, has eased up on his charge in the hope of sending him to the post fresh on March 15.

Donau, winner of the 1910 renewal of the Kentucky Derby, which inaugurated his debut at the local track by a most impressive victory, is also being pointed for the special. A mean acting brute, the son of Woolsthorpe, father of Hazelthorpe, owned by Mr. Farrier, of Richmond, has turned man-eater, and it is now a fact that the Trainer Ham succeeds in training him.

Orbicular, the yearling of Juvare, one year ago, is the one the clockers fancy for the big event. The aged son of Smile, although seen under colors during the past week, showed unmistakable signs of being short; at the same time he demonstrated that if anything he is a faster horse right now than at any time in his racing career.

Lahore Favorite of Many.
Of the three-year-olds, Lahore, James Rowe's splendid son of Delhi, has received the most critical attention. Lahore was seen under colors only once, and on that occasion was the recipient of a most unintelligent ride, finishing second to Grover Hughes in the last time of 1:12 1/5 for the six furlongs. It is doubtful whether there is a three-year-old at the track capable of duplicating the trick.

Owner J. W. Schorr, of Memphis, is represented by a most pretentious string, having named Star Charter, Edda, John Reardon, Aymer, Banives and Tom Hayward. Trainer Walker, in speaking of the stable's chances, stated that he would probably depend upon Banives and Star Charter to turn the trick. The latter is exceptionally fleet of foot, while a distance of ground is apparently his forte. The same three-year-olds are slated to hear colors in the Derby, and the barring the possible exception of the erratic The Nigger, have been seen to advantage in recent races.

Francis J. Pons, secretary-treasurer of the local association, and who is racing a very fair lot of platers, occasioned the distinction of leading the list of winning owners during the meeting. Up to and including January 15, the Pons stable had earned $5,170.

Other owners that have won $1,000 or over during the meeting are as follows: J. W. Schorr, $7,285; S. Clifton, $6,165; and J. W. Schorr, $5,170.

500-MILE RACE ATTRACTS MANY

Indianapolis Speedway Meet Brings Out Fastest Men on Automobile Tracks.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 4.—An automobile race driver, who is in a class by himself from the unique standpoint of that hazardous sport, is Frank P. Fox, of Indianapolis, who has just entered the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race over the Indianapolis Speedway on Decoration Day, May 20 next. Fox is the only motor pilot in the game who has an artificial limb, his left leg having been amputated above the knee several years ago. The strange part of his willingness to accept this handicap against other famous drivers is the fact that he is independently wealthy, and owns two or three thriving businesses in Indianapolis, which yield him a large annual income, so that the element of personal gain does not enter into his participation in automobile racing.

The other entrants thus far in the race are Lewis Strang, C. B. Baldwin and Johnny Aitken. The management of the speedway expects at least thirty entries for the event before the 1st of March.

Donau, winner of the 1910 renewal of the Kentucky Derby, which inaugurated his debut at the local track by a most impressive victory, is also being pointed for the special. A mean acting brute, the son of Woolsthorpe, father of Hazelthorpe, owned by Mr. Farrier, of Richmond, has turned man-eater, and it is now a fact that the Trainer Ham succeeds in training him.

Orbicular, the yearling of Juvare, one year ago, is the one the clockers fancy for the big event. The aged son of Smile, although seen under colors during the past week, showed unmistakable signs of being short; at the same time he demonstrated that if anything he is a faster horse right now than at any time in his racing career.

Where else can you buy so much service for $1500?

THE public has learned that it is not absolutely necessary to buy luxury-priced cars to get all the service they want.

The performance of the Chalmers "30," $1500 Car, in motoring contests and owners' hands has educated the public to this fact.

Chalmers "30"

two, four or five passenger types; will answer every requirement of speed, power and comfort that the average man could ask. The record of this car in winning the 1910 Glidden Trophy over 2,851 miles of all sorts of roads in competition with cars twice its price and power is sufficient proof of its ability to do all the average owner could ask of it.

Upon the Chalmers "30" and "Forty" is staked the future of a great business organization. Every Chalmers Car sold today is helping the sale of other Chalmers Cars many years from today.

When you buy a Chalmers you buy a guarantee of performance and quality backed by an organization that is here to stay.

Will you favor us with an inspection of the 1911 models at your convenience.

Gordon Motor Company

Chalmers "30" Touring Car

JACKSONVILLE MEET REACHING FINAL END

(Continued From First Page.)

Beverwyck Stable, $1,110; W. Shield, $2,925; A. G. Weston, $3,095; R. D. Williams, $6,260; O. J. Decker, $2,465; A. Weber, $2,340; W. P. Austin, $2,225; A. S. P. Randolph, $2,175; Lou Johnson, $2,450; G. P. Chinn, $2,325; D. N. Brewitt, $2,325; F. D. Weir, $1,175; Miss A. M. Maronne, $1,575; G. A. Brander, $1,510; F. Regan, $1,500; H. McCarran, $1,550; Guy Gray, $1,500; M. Dooley, $1,475; L. P. Doerflinger, $2,510; J. M. Baker, $1,490; J. E. Gaffney, $1,325; W. M. Flizer, $1,350; E. F. Cooney, $1,325; H. Penny, $1,150; S. Ross, $1,120; J. O. Holder, $1,125; L. Tauber, $1,075; C. K. Lyman, $1,075; William Gerst, $1,025; J. T. Marquette, $1,275; J. E. Nash, $1,275; A. B. Gallagher, $1,225; E. R. Condran, $1,225; George Land, $1,175; M. J. Weston, $1,050.

The riding brigade which has been productive of a pretty contest for first honors, finds Jockey Jimmy Butts well in the lead, with McChae, who has shown wonderful form, a ship of late, a hang up second. Little Bell, who early in the meeting had such a tremendous lead, but who has been out of the saddle for three weeks with a broken collarbone, is still a smart competitor in the lead, with McChae, who has shown wonderful form, a ship of late, a hang up second. Little Bell, who early in the meeting had such a tremendous lead, but who has been out of the saddle for three weeks with a broken collarbone, is still a smart competitor in the lead, with McChae, who has shown wonderful form, a ship of late, a hang up second.

After a long chase, which routed the neighborhood dogs, the men and dogs, be-draggled and footsore, followed the fox to a den on the mountain side, where the dogs caught him.

Foxes seem numerous in this section, as the huntsmen rarely fail to start one when they come this way.

Annapolis Defeats Swarthmore.
Annapolis, Md., Feb. 4.—The Naval Academy won from Swarthmore at basketball this afternoon by 31 to 23 in a fast and exciting game. The Swarthmore team, coached by Swarthmore, threw eight goals out of ten attempts, from the foul line.

Y. M. C. A. TEAMS TO PLAY SERIES OF BOWLING GAMES
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Spencer, N. C., February 4.—Arrangements are being made for the opening games of a series to be played by the Y. M. C. A. bowling teams at Spencer, Winston-Salem, Lynchburg, Kanapolis, Spray, Asheville and other places, which formed an Interstate Bowling League at Raleigh last week. The series will open on Monday night, February 13, each team playing on its own alley, and the result will be wired to the Spencer Y. M. C. A., where headquarters for the two States have been established. From this place the returns will be reported by wire to the various teams belonging to the league. W. H. Burton, of Spencer, has offered a handsome prize to the winning team at the end of a ten weeks' contest.

"606"
Prof. P. Dr. Ehrlich's Cure for BLOOD POISON
Now on Sale. All Symptoms Removed in Two Days
ONE DOSE CURES

If you have aching bones, rash, copper-colored spots, mucous patches, throat symptoms, falling hair, ulcers, no matter where located nor how many, even if they have eaten to the bone, isn't it time to know that a remedy exists which will remove all these symptoms in TWO DAYS? If you are threatened or have been attacked by incipient locomotor ataxia, early paralysis, epilepsy, blindness, paresis (complete loss of memory), rotting bones, decaying brain, ALL caused by contagious blood poison, 606 WILL SAVE YOU.

No. 606 was perfected after 605 experiments by Prof. Dr. P. Ehrlich (who is Privy Counsellor to the German Emperor at Berlin), and he is now introducing it under the name of "Salvarsan." After exhaustive experiments in the leading hospitals of the world, during which 60,000 trial cases were successfully treated and every one proven an absolute cure by the infallible Wasserman blood test, the remedy is now recognized and endorsed by all the leading physicians of the world.

Blood poison is wholly preventable. It is contracted by direct contact with the virus through an exposed symptom. Under the old fashioned treatment the symptoms remain exposed, sometimes for years, making the patient a great public menace. 606 removes all symptoms in two days. Save yourself and others.

Among great scientific discoveries may be recorded the antitoxin for diphtheria, which has made that dreaded throat disease of little danger; Prof. De Lisle's vaccine for bubonic plague; Pasteur's cure for hydrophobia and lockjaw; and Dr. Flexner's cure for meningitis. But the crowning discovery of all is Prof. Dr. Ehrlich's "Salvarsan" (No. 606). The discovery should be considered of far greater importance than any other of the wonderful remedies the mind of man has yet produced, in so far as the disease it cures is much more prevalent and disastrous than any other (more common than tuberculosis), and comparison with any other remedy is impossible and unjust. Prof. Dr. Ehrlich is now at work on a remedy against consumption, whose efficacy he confidently declares will equal that of this 606 preparation, indicating that through the genius of his master mind the two terrible scourges which Science recognizes as the most prevalent and destructive of human life will soon be wiped out. It is expected that with "Salvarsan" over four million cures will be made this year.

To insure the patient that he receives the authentic remedy Prof. Dr. Ehrlich controls the manufacture of the remedy in Germany, and every package is tested under his personal supervision and control and bears the guarantee and signature of Prof. Dr. Ehrlich. Consequently the supply is inadequate to meet the world-wide demand. If interested it is advisable that through the genius of his master mind the two terrible scourges which Science recognizes as the most prevalent and destructive of human life will soon be wiped out. It is expected that with "Salvarsan" over four million cures will be made this year.

To insure the patient that he receives the authentic remedy Prof. Dr. Ehrlich controls the manufacture of the remedy in Germany, and every package is tested under his personal supervision and control and bears the guarantee and signature of Prof. Dr. Ehrlich. Consequently the supply is inadequate to meet the world-wide demand. If interested it is advisable that through the genius of his master mind the two terrible scourges which Science recognizes as the most prevalent and destructive of human life will soon be wiped out. It is expected that with "Salvarsan" over four million cures will be made this year.

Salvarsan can be taken in the privacy of the home. It contains no mercury or iodides. No matter what stage the disease is in or how many months or years standing, ONE DOSE CURES PERMANENTLY. Remember, ALL SYMPTOMS DISAPPEAR IN TWO DAYS. Correspondence from physicians solicited. After thirty days you may take the infallible Wasserman blood test, and if the report shows that there is even a "trace" of the disease left, your money will be refunded.

The world has been waiting anxiously for five years for this wonderful remedy. During that time it has been put to every possible test in over 60,000 cases, and has never faltered or failed. It will not fail in your case.

Make all remittances payable to 606 Laboratories only, 33 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

P. S.—Owing to the very limited supply of Salvarsan it is not expected that this announcement will again appear for six months.

$40 and $35 SUITS, $20
$30 and $25 SUITS, $15
$20 and $15 SUITS, $10

MADE IN THE NEW STYLES OF 1911
At Half Price Now

Every yard of Winter Suitings to be sold

Even the finest $40 Worsteds on the bargain counter. The same perfect fit, the same fine tailoring, as if you paid the regular price. The nobbiest, most up-to-date clothes in town. Don't buy old ready-made "clothing" that has been lying on the shelves for months when you can get splendid Tailor-Made Suits, NEW in every thread the day you put them on, at half the regular prices.

For $3.50---Trousers Worth $5, $7 and to $10 come and see for yourself. Nothing to equal them anywhere else.

Tailors and Importers
Morton C. Stout & Co.
At 714 East Main St.